

have got

1. Change these sentences into questions like this:

Daniel's got a Bart Simpson video.

Has Daniel got a Bart Simpson video?

- a. You've got a Spiderman pencil case.

- b. She's got an Aladdin T-shirt.

- c. The new teacher has got long hair.

- d. Homer Simpson has got four fingers.

- e. The police officer's got a new green uniform.

2. Correct the errors in the following sentences.

I have a really good friend – his name is Robert.

I have got a really good friend – his name is Robert.

- a. You have got a pet?

- b. No, I haven't got.

- c. He've got a big dog and a black cat.

- d. I have twelve years.

- e. My father have got two brothers.

3. Complete the sentences with have ('ve) or has ('s).

Tom___ got a new bicycle.

Tom's got a new bicycle.

a. His sister _____ got some friends.

b. _____ you got any brothers?

c. They _____ got a big house.

d. She _____ got a fantastic book.

e. I _____ got a red and white pen.

4. Look at the picture. They are strange animals. Write 10 sentences describing them. Then write another 10 sentences pointing what is wrong. Use have got / has got / haven't got / hasn't got.

a. The horses have got feathers.

Horses haven't got feathers

b. _____

c. _____

d. _____

e. _____

f. _____

g. _____

h. _____

i. _____

j. _____

have got

1. Change these sentences into questions like this:

Daniel's got a Bart Simpson video.

Has Daniel got a Bart Simpson video?

- a. You've got a Spiderman pencil case.

Have you got a Spiderman pencil case?

- b. She's got an Aladdin T-shirt.

Has she got an Aladdin T-shirt?

- c. The new teacher has got long hair.

Has the new teacher got long hair?

- d. Homer Simpson has got four fingers.

Has Homer Simpson got four fingers?

- e. The police officer's got a new green uniform.

Has the police officer got a new uniform?

2. Correct the errors in the following sentences.

I have a really good friend – his name is Robert.

I have got a really good friend – his name is Robert.

- a. You have got a pet?

Have you got a pet?

- b. No, I haven't got.

No, I haven't.

- c. He've got a big dog and a black cat.

He's got a big dog and a black cat.

- d. I have twelve years.

I'm twelve years old.

- e. My father have got two brothers.

My father has got two brothers.

3. Complete the sentences with have ('ve) or has ('s).

Tom___ got a new bicycle.

Tom's got a new bicycle.

- a. His sister's got some friends.
- b. Have you got any brothers?
- c. They've got a big house.
- d. She's got a fantastic book.
- e. I've got a red and white pen.

4. Look at the picture. They are strange animals. Write 10 sentences describing them. Then write another 10 sentences pointing what is wrong. Use have got / has got / haven't got / hasn't got.

- a. The horses have got feathers.
- b. The zebra has got dots.
- c. The monkey has got 5 legs.
- d. The duck hasn't got feathers.
- e. The rabbit has got one ear.
- f. The camel has got four humps.
- g. The tiger hasn't got any tail.
- h. The snake has got feet.
- i. The parrot has got one leg.
- j. The giraffes have got short necks.

Horses have got fur
Zebras have got stripes.
Monkeys have got 4 legs.
Ducks have got feathers.
Rabbits have got two ears.
Camels have got two humps.
Tigers have got one tail.
Snakes haven't got any foot.
Parrots have got two legs.
Giraffes have got long necks.